Johnson County Land Records (JCLR)

JCLR is a web-based application that provides centralized, open access to land record data (e.g., owner, situs address, legal description, appraisal, zoning, tax, plat), and geographic data (e.g., parcel maps, aerial photography). It also includes functions for creating mailing labels and driving directions, and buffering parcels. It is a one-stop resource for conducting land records research.

JCLR enables an end user to view the geographic database maintained by AIMS and other county departments. In addition to the map image, a user can view information about the geographic features.

Users can view county features such as:
